The Woman's Literary Club met at the home of Mrs. G. H. Davis last Wednesday evening. Following is the program: roll call, current events; piano solo, Mrs. Buswell; paper, "Life of Chopin," written by Miss Waite and read by Mrs. Davis; piano duet, Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Buswell.

The snow has nearly all gone in the immediate vicinity of the village and wagons are in use altogether by visitors from surrounding towns. Last week was an exceptionally warm one for this time of year and as a result of the fast melting of the snow we were visited by high water for several days. Little sugar is being made.

The incorporated village school meeting was held Tuesday evening in the academy building and resulted in the election of the following officers: Moderator, F. W. Baldwin; clerk, J. A. Pearson; committee, H. T. Seaver, E. W. Barron, H. C. Pierce; auditors, W. R. Aldrich, W. M. Wright, P. L. Webster. The tax raised was 65c on the dollar.

It is hoped that baseball enthusiasts will take it into their hands to organize a town team here for the coming season. The academy are to have a strong team and we venture to say they would give the town team some good hard practice, which is essential to the success of any athletic team. The liberal patronage given basketball here this winter would indicate that a baseball team could live and live well. Who will be the instigator?

The Cardinals (girls) basketball team won from the Newport high school team (girls) last Tuesday evening in Seaver's hall by a score of 6 to 3. The Newport team has a good record and put up a hard fight but the Cardinals by dint of hard work steadily gained on their rivals. The periods were of 15 minutes and 20 minutes each. Between the periods the eighth and ninth grade boys of the grammar school played a spirited game resulting in a victory for the ninth grade team.

The Afternoon Study Club met with Mrs. Susan Dewey, Thursday, March 30, 1905. Twenty-four members and two visitors were present. After roll call the history paper upon the "Deeds of the Civil War" was read by Mrs. Mossman. There was a general discussion of the great military leaders. Mrs. W. M. Wright kindly favored the club with a beautiful song, "Rock of Ages," which was much enjoyed. The next half hour was spent in a pronouncing contest, closing with brief tributes to the life and character of Lincoln. The next meeting will be Thursday, April 13, with Mrs. A. B. Blake.

Another of our respected citizens passed away last night, namely, Charles H. Abbott. About two years ago he was hurt by being thrown from a wagon while going down Mill hill, since which time he has been gradually failing in health until the end came. Mr. Abbott was born in this town on March 13, 1831, and has always lived here. He was the son of David S. Abbott, the second male child born in Barton. On June 27th, 1876, he married Miss Lydia A. McKenty, who survives him. Mr. Abbott was an honest, upright man, a kind neighbor, and especially kind to the poor. He was industrious, hard working, faithful and trustworthy, a man who had many friends. He was always ready to help those who needed help. Since his accident his mind has been clouded much of the time; and his faithful wife has been untiring in her efforts to care for him when, by night and by day, he has required the most vigilant attention. He leaves his wife, and his sister, Mrs. Eliza A. Chapman of Irasburg, besides many more distant friends to mourn his loss. The funeral will be held at the Methodist Episcopal church on next Wednesday at 10 a. m. Rev. W. C. Johnson will officiate.

One of our oldest citizens, J. J. Hill, passed away last week. Mr. Hill has been in failing health for about three years, but the immediate cause of his death was an attack of grip. Mr. Hill was born in Wheelock February 4, 1820. When a young man he moved with his parents to Sheffield, and a little later he went to Bangor, Me., where he lived until his uncle to learn the mercantile trade. When his time of service expired he came back to Sheffield and opened a store for himself. He showed remarkable ability to sell goods, and did a thriving business for some time. About June, 1862, he sold his business, moved to this town and began to deal in sewing machines, both wholesale and retail, following this business nearly all his life until his age compelled him to give up business. After a few years he purchased the house in which he died and has lived there until his death. He also built a shop in which he conducted his business for many years. He set out the large number of beautiful shade trees about his premises, repaired and remodelled his buildings and made his home one of the pleasantest in the village. On June 28, 1881, he was married to Mrs. Sarah M. Twombly, who has faithfully cared for him during his long sickness. Mr. Hill was a social, fluent and accommodating man, a good neighbor and devoted himself strictly to business. He leaves a wife, two sisters, Mrs. M. J. Smith of this town and Mrs. James Knox of Stanstead Junction, P. Q., to mourn his loss. His death occurred on Wednesday and the funeral was held at the house last Friday, Rev. W. A. Warner officiating, assisted by Rev. W. C. Johnson. The remains were interred in the village cemetery.

The people of this vicinity enjoyed a rare treat Friday and Saturday evenings at Seaver's opera hall listening to the cantata of "Queen Esther." It was known that neither expense nor labor had been spared by the Handel and Haydn society to put on the stage a first-class entertainment. The singers and actors, under the leadership of Prof. A. H. Newton of Boston, had reached a degree of efficiency which enabled them to act their parts in a manner highly satisfactory to the audiences. The opera itself has been much improved from the original. The performers were arrayed in Oriental costumes, and the walls of the stage were hung with Oriental scenery. Some of the pleasing features of the entertainment were the different drills by the girls and young ladies. The sixteen tambourine girls showed their skill and agility both by the manner in which they handled their instruments and the grace and rapidity of their movements. These motions were just adapted to the acting out the girl nature--the running, waltzing, shaking and beating the tambourines to the time of the music, showed the enthusiasm of the children. The shepherdess drill was also much enjoyed. These young ladies with their shepherd's crooks likewise exhibited much skill in the figures they executed, passing under the arches which were formed by their crooks, gliding through the opposite ranks, deftly keeping time with their feet to waltz, march, or quickstep as occasion required. The shield drill was specially pleasing from a military point of view. With burnished helmets, shields, and spears, these sixteen tall ladies executed most brilliantly military evolutions, formed the double square, right and left wheels, and such a variety of beautiful movements that we can give but little idea of them. We very much doubt that the ancient Persians could go through military tactics in a manner as creditable. The children's choruses too showed that music is as natural to the little ones as to the birds. With many fine voices in the different parts, the main choruses showed both good volume and quality of tone, and here also was shown the advantage of faithful and conscientious training. For thirty years musicians have acknowledged the sweetness and richness of the many choruses of the cantata. The singers here took hold of these with a zeal which boded success. The extent and variety of the motions introduced to fitly represent the meaning of the words added greatly to the effect, and was most impressive. Much care was exercised in selecting soloists who were adapted to represent the different characters of the opera, and with much success as shown in the production Friday and Saturday evenings. The work of the soloists will be taken up next week in connection with the presentation at Barton Landing.

Congregational Church Notes.

The Home Missionary Society will meet with Mrs. George Gorham Tuesday p. m. The choir next Sunday will sing "O Jesus We Adore Thee," by Barnaby, and "If We Believe that Jesus Died," by Simper.

The ladies of the Congregational Society will give their annual sugar party Wednesday, April 5th. Supper will be served from six until eight o'clock for twenty cents. Everybody invited.

The Y. P. S. C. E. will hold a "Poverty Party" in the vestry of the Cong. church on Friday evening, April 7th, beginning at seven-thirty o'clock. All cordially invited. Each lady and gentleman attending is requested to bring a light lunch wrapped in paper, to be placed upon one table and given out without regard to ownership. The committee reserves the right to fine any person appearing in gorgeous raiment, namely, "billed shirts," stand-up collars, red neck-ties, silks and satins, and jewelry. Stylish pompadours will also be fined--one cent for each offense. A suitable prize will be awarded the most poverty-stricken lady and gentleman. Cold water will be served free of charge.

Methodist Church Notes.

The Odd Girls' Society will be entertained at the church parlors Friday afternoon by Mrs. Drown and Mrs. Johnson. Supper at six o'clock. A cordial invitation extended to all.

Next Sunday morning the choir will sing the anthem "From Thy Love as a Father," from Gounod's "Redemption." Miss Sarah McLellan will sing for an offertory "The Man of Sorrows," by Joseph H. Adams.

St. Paul's Church Notes.

Wednesday, prayer meeting at 7:30 with sermon, "The Good Thief."

Yesterday, the fourth Sunday of Lent, gospel, "The Miraculous Multiplication of Bread," St. John 6: 15. We make special mention of the hymn, "O Lord I Am Not Worthy," by little Lora Jutras, and the impressive sermon, the first words of Christ on the cross, a canticle of forgiveness, "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do." Prayer meeting was held at seven o'clock with same sermon in French.

Huntress Mahue was severely injured Wednesday evening by being kicked and struck by a horse. The horse had just had its grain when Mr. Mahue went into the stall and the horse threw him down, cutting a gash on his head and bruising his arms badly.

On Sunday, March 19, Rev. S. G. Lewis preached a missionary sermon and took up the missionary offering, which amounted to about $70. Mr. Lewis will preach a missionary sermon at the conference of the M. E. churches at Enosburg Falls, beginning April 19th.

We take this method to extend our thanks to the friends and neighbors, who so kindly aided during the sickness death and burial of our beloved wife and mother, also to the singers and to those who sent the beautiful floral tribute.

G. A. FLETCHER AND FAMILY.

We have secured the services of Arthur E. Warner, an associated press reporter, to report this village for the MONITOR. He will visit the village once or twice each week for news. Jot down your items and send that he gets them or send them to this office. We are glad to get them.

M. M. Taplin was kept busy last week having attended a large auction sale of horses in North Adams, Mass., last Wednesday, where he sold seventy-one horses, also at Woodsville, N. H., on Friday selling fifty horses at this sale. He also had farm and stock sales in Brownington and Sheffield.

The officers elected at the recent village meeting were: moderator, E. F. D. Carpenter; clerk, A. W. Fletcher; trustees for three years, O. G. Page; water commissioner for three years, F. H. Churchill; auditors, C. D. French, L. M. Kinsley and H. S. Webster. It was voted to pay the fire company $150, and the band is also to receive $150.

Queen Esther concert tomorrow, Tuesday, evening. Judging from the success and pleasing report of the Esther concert at Barton, we anticipate a full house at the concert here tomorrow evening. The cantata is full of action and the solo and chorus work is rendered in excellent manner. The drills by the girls and young ladies are especially pretty and well executed.

The Book and Thimble Club held their "Gentlemen's evening" at the home of Mrs. G. B. Rowell on Wednesday, March 23. About seventy guests were present. The evening was spent in playing progressive games. A short musical program was given and refreshments were served. Thanks are due to Miss Eaton for the painted souvenirs, also to Dr. and Mrs. Rowell for opening their house for the occasion.

Yesterday, at about 2:30 o'clock, it was discovered that the H. H. Hyde house near the Willoughby lake road on School street was on fire. In a short time help gathered and the goods were taken from the house. Before the hose company arrived the barn and all were destroyed and part of the house but by hard work with three streams of water the fire was soon under control and extinguished. The building will be an entire loss. Mr. M. Revolt had moved into the house only the night before and it is thought the fire originated about the stove-pipe or chimney. Mr. A. D. Mathews, guardian, had newly repaired the house last fall, putting in several hundred dollars. The loss is estimated at about $600 with about $300 insurance.
